

Booster Seats

Read your vehicle and booster seat instructions.

From at least 40 pounds (18 kilograms) until 80 pounds (36 kilograms) or 9 years of age or 4'9" (145 cm) tall.

Once children are too big for a forward-facing safety seat, they need a booster seat. A booster seat helps the seat belt safely fit a child's body.

Head is protected by the booster seat or the vehicle seat's head rest.

Shoulder strap fits between the neck and shoulder.

Lap belt fits low over the hips.
